MODEST DEMANDS OF TURKEY

Austro-Hungary's Letters to Sultan Expected to Have Decided Results.

Vienna, Feb. 16.—Special.—A rumor that owing to the difficulty of obtaining the consent of the other powers, or for other reasons, the Austro-Hungarian demands of reforms in Macedonia have been greatly attenuated since Count Lamdorff drafted them, is practically confirmed by the official Fremdenblatt, which states that the demands are carefully framed, so as not to overstep the limits prescribed by respect for the sultan's suzerain rights, and that being confined to comparatively modest bounds, they are more likely to attain the desired end than if they were more pretentious. They will, however, says the official organ, succeed if Macedonia is made the theater of a guerilla war. It is regarded here as certain that these half reforms will not satisfy the Macedonian revolutionary party, which demands complete autonomy.

PRIEST DROPS DEAD
AS RESULT OF WORRY

Rev. Joseph Dombrowski Had Expelled Twenty-nine Students From Institution He Had Built.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 16.—Rev. Joseph Dombrowski, probably the best-known Polish priest in America, dropped dead as the indirect result of an ultimatum affecting a professor at St. Mary's Polish seminary. Twenty-nine theological students demanded that Father Dombrowski dismiss the professor three weeks ago. The priest consulted with the church officials and the students were expelled.

The trouble preyed on the mind of Father Dombrowski until his heart, which was weak, could not stand the strain.

Father Dombrowski built the seminary in 1880, doing carpenter work himself, in order to supply the demand for Polish priests in the United States. He was an officer in a University of Warsaw regiment that fought the Russians in 1863 and was a political refugee.

If no more snow falls during the week the race can be sailed next Saturday although the ice is liable to be pretty rough.

BALKAN WAR IS NOW APPARENT

London Officials Express Alarm Over Situation, and Believe Trouble Is Imminent.

NATIVES READY

Austria and Turkey Are Both Mobilizing Their Forces Ready for War.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

London, Feb. 16.—Officials here are more alarmed than ever over the situation in the Balkans, and they no longer have the least doubt that war will begin at an early date. Advances received here from Constantinople, Vienna, and St. Petersburg remove all doubt that the powers are preparing for a desperate fight.

Despite the official denials given out in Vienna, information has been received from a semi-official source that the Austrian government has mobilized two army corps and has already concentrated an extra 40,000 men on the Balkan frontier. The military men of Austria are now almost absolutely certain that armed intervention cannot be averted, and are preparing accordingly.

Expects War.

Conclusive proof that the government at Vienna expects war, and that in the very near future, is given in the fact that Field Marshal Rheidlander has already been chosen to command the Austrian forces in Macedonia. He has taken the preliminary steps to prepare for active service, and is getting supplies in readiness.

The activity of the war ministry at Vienna is also significant. Following the recent order to the railroads and the Austrian-Lloyd Steamship company to have trains and transports in readiness to take a large force to Dalmatia at a moment's notice, the war ministry is preparing in feverish haste large quantities of supplies for immediate shipment to the expected scene of action.

To Mobilize Troops.

Simultaneously with the ominous information from Vienna come reliable reports from Constantinople that the plans for the mobilization of 250,000 troops have been completed, and, what is more significant, the redifs of the Second and Third army corps have already been called out. These corps are already assembled and in waiting to be dispatched into Macedonia.

Edhim to Command.

At Constantinople, too, a commander-in-chief for Macedonia has been named in the person of Marshal Edhim Pasha. Edhim won fame throughout Turkey for his brilliant generalship in the recent war with Greece, and his selection as generalissimo of the Turkish troops in Macedonia is regarded as meaning that the Sultan is determined to resist to the last any attempt to curtail his power. In the event of hostilities, Edhim Pasha will have command of more than a quarter of a million of men in Macedonia.

Rebels Are Active.

Increasing activity is being shown by the Macedonian insurgents. Eighteen newly organized bands have appeared in the Sandjak of Monastir, and are continually harassing the Turkish garrisons stationed there. The commander of the Turkish forces there has received orders to take vigorous measures to crush the rebellious bands.

LESSONS FROM LINCOLN'S LIFE

MARTYRED PRESIDENT A TRUE CHRISTIAN.

WAS DEVOTED TO HIS BIBLE

Rev. W. W. Warner Spoke of the President's Deeply Religious Nature and Its Lessons.

Especially appropriate on the Sunday nearest the anniversary of the birth of America's martyred president, Abraham Lincoln, was the subject upon which Rev. W. W. Warner spoke to a large congregation at the First M. E. Church, Sunday morning. The subject chosen was "Religious Lessons From the Times and Life of Abraham Lincoln" and the church was suitably decorated with the national colors.

Manhood Emphasized
As his introduction, Rev. Warner spoke of the value which Christ places upon manhood. The Christian religion is the only one which is based on the human side of manhood. position, wealth, environment are not considered. When Christ came into the world, every laboring man was a slave and he brought a special message to those in bondage. He sought to make people realize that he came on a mission to manhood.

Christ designed to preach deliverance to the captive by first delivering his conscience. When the conscience is free and the soul filled with love for mankind, the shackles will fall from the mind and then from the limbs. This plan has proved true in the past. Of the ten great vices which prevailed among our heathen ancestors only three remain. Intemperance, the social evil and gambling. The people have been freed from seven great evils and throughout Christendom physical slavery has been done away with.

Method of Reform
These reforms have come by getting the desire for them into the minds of the people after which the spirit of God has come in some great revival. A religious revival reaches out beyond the church into the social and political life. The teachings of John Wesley led England to stand by Pitt until he had established the Protestant church in India and until Wolfe was sent out to conquer Montcalm and America was won for Protestantism.

Scientists teach us that there is no movement of nature nor of human history that is not guided by the mind. This country is founded on Christ's teachings of equal rights. The spirit of the Declaration of Independence came from the Scriptures. Then the people were confronted by the fact that there was one class of people who were not equal in the eye of the law. They knew slavery was wrong but the question was how to get rid of it.

Paved The Way
Revivalists studied human rights and preached the doctrine of liberating men from bondage. Consciences were awakened and when slave holders struck at the union, people had enough love for the flag to stand by it and oppose slavery. Rev. Warner then gave his personal remembrances of scenes which he witnessed as a boy at the breaking out of the civil war. The enlistment of troops, the departure for the front, the assassination of President Lincoln and an impressive scene at the close of the war were graphically described.

Lincoln's Religion
The war was the mightiest conflict which ever shook the earth and the hearts of the people got back to God and their dependence on him. Especially was this true of Abraham Lincoln. When face to face with the great problems which pressed upon him he realized his need of divine help and was often found in prayer or reading his Bible. His devotion to the Bible was remarkable. No ruler of the United States or of any other country has ever incorporated so much of the Bible into state papers as did Abraham Lincoln.

With many incidents Rev. Warner illustrated the deeply religious element in Lincoln's life. The great president not only believed in Providence, in the Bible and in prayer but in his everyday life he showed the spirit of the true Christian.

Present Conditions
The lessons learned from his life may be applied to present conditions. Everyone knows that intemperance is wrong and unworthy a Christian civilization, that gambling is wrong, that the social evil is eating into the very lives of the young people, and that corruption, municipal or individual should be wiped out. They know that they ought to be nobler, grander men and women.

Revival Is Needed
What is the agency that will bring people's private lives up to their knowledge and get them to do as well as they know so efficiently as a genuine revival of religion which will snap the fetters of those enslaved in sin, reconcile labor and capital and purify politics? The coming revival in this city is not to be a one man revival. Results are to be brought about by the prayers and efforts of the laity as well as of the ministers and the revival should begin at once in the hearts of the Christian people. Each one should look for his mission and be ready to perform it.

Evening Song Service
In the evening there was an enjoyable song service given under the direction of the Sunday school, assisted by the church choir. The musical program included an organ prelude by Miss Elva Crawford, an anthem by the choir, vocal duets by Marcia and Charlie Noyes and by Dr. and Mrs. F. T. Richards, a solo by Mrs. W. W. Warner and a song by the Junior choir. Miss Flora Rider gave a beautiful reading "Good-Bye, God Bless You."

BELOIT STUDENTS REJOICE TONIGHT

Collegians Will Hold a Mass Meeting in the Chapel to Celebrate New Gymnasium.

Although disappointed repeatedly the Beloit college students are once more jubilant over the prospect of a new gymnasium. No particulars as to the source of the funds with which the building is to be erected have been made public. The announcement that such a structure is soon to be built was made on Friday evening at the gathering of the Alumni association in Chicago. Sunday at the college Vesper service at Beloit Pres. E. D. Eaton, out of regard for the sanctity of the day, and in order to prevent any unseemly demonstration of joy, announced that he would not speak of the subject at that time, but that a meeting would be called of the students for a general rejoicing.

The meeting is to be held this evening in the college chapel. The president, Dean E. G. Smith, Merle Adkins, the baseball man, and other prominent individuals will speak, the college quartette sing, and the students indulge in a general characteristic jubilation. It is expected that the details of the plan by which the much needed gymnasium is to be secured will be made public at the meeting. Classes will be suspended from eight to nine o'clock tomorrow morning to permit the attendance of the entire student body tonight.

TABLES TURNED ON COLLEGIANS

MILTON COLLEGE MEETS WATER-LOO ON SATURDAY EVENING.

ALUMNI GIRLS' FIVE DEFEATED

Annual Match Played at High School Gym Between Halves of the Big Game.

Defeat which the Milton college basketball representatives administered to the high school five not many weeks ago was amply revenged on Saturday evening. In one of the cleanest, fastest contests which it has been the fortune of a Janesville audience to witness this winter the collegians were snowed under by a Beloit team. Between halves the girls' teams representing the high school and alumni played their annual contest, victory going to the undergraduates by a score of 6 to 4. Something went wrong with the official time keeper and so the settlement of the dispute was out of the question, but nearly everyone was morally certain that at the end of the allotted time the score was a tie.

In the main event of the evening, which was closely followed by about one hundred and fifty enthusiastic spectators, the high school players exhibited a marked improvement in form over their condition of last week. In the association game which was played a few days ago the high schoolmen showed a decided disinclination to pass the ball. There was too much brilliant star work, and too little consistent team play.

During the intervening time since that game Coach Norris has kept his men under strict inspection on this one point. A large part of each practice hour has been devoted simply to passing and the change for the better was noticeable.

Milton Takes Brace

At one time in the evening the collegians took a stand that netted them several baskets, and for a few minutes had the locals on the run. It was only for a few minutes. The high school men quickly rallied, and during the rest of the game had things their own way. There was no point of the game at which they did not outplay their opponents. Their accuracy of passing and their speed was always superior. The Milton men lost several points through their inability to throw the sphere accurately enough to land it in the basket when opportunity offered.

Girls' Contest

In the girls' game the two teams proved closely matched, and through the uncertainty of the result the contest acquired more interest. Through some oversight the time was not taken and this led to a discussion as to the result of the game. At the time when it was discovered that no watch was being held an agreement was reached to play until either team scored, the lives being tied at that time. The high school players succeeded in making a field basket, thereby gaining the victory.

SHERIFF WATCHES FOR SOME CROOKS

Have Beguiled Farmers Into Signing Notes, Which Sharper Then Cash.

The sheriff and city police have received notice to look out for a couple of smooth fakirs posing as doctors, that have been working the people in the vicinity of Rockton, Beloit and Clinton. They drive about the country pretending they can cure any disease but make a specialty of rheumatism. They landed a man residing near Rockton for $250, by claiming they could cure him of the rheumatism, and secured a note for $250, on which they got the cash. They next appeared at Beloit and worked Isaac O'Clair who resides near Afton, to give them his note for $100, to cure him of rheumatism, but whether they succeeded in getting the note cashed is not known.

Come to Clinton
They then changed their field of labor to Clinton and were successful in getting a note for $100 from a farmer residing near that place. While they were at Clinton, however, the officers there received word to look out for them and at once made inquiry at the livery stables regarding them. The police found out they were out on a visit to a certain farmer and sent word to him not to have anything to do with the parties. The farmer however did not get the notice until after the men had been there and worked him for a $100 note. He however hitched up a horse and came to Clinton and found the sharper at his hotel. He and Marshall Earle went up to their room and succeeded in getting the note back without any trouble. The marshal did not arrest the men but went out and telephoned the authorities at Rockton to see if they wanted them. While he was telephoning the men skipped out leaving their baggage behind, and succeeded in getting to Chicago.

They claimed to represent a hospital in Chicago and have a cut of the auditorium on their letterheads to represent their hospital.

POST PROM. FRAT. DANCING PARTY

Phi Kappa Psi, of Madison, Ends Prom Festivities with Banquet-Dance.

It is many moons since East Side Odd Fellows' hall has been so thoroughly transformed by the hand of the decorator as Saturday evening, in preparation for the entertainment of collegians and their fair companions from the state capital and from the line city. Southern smilax, ferns and palms were used with lavish hand, a canopy of green hiding the ceiling and a barricade of potted ferns concealing the orchestra, Smith's.

But before the members of the Madison and Beloit chapters of Phi Kappa Psi, together with the local alumni, assembled at the L. O. O. F. hall, the state university party met at the Grand Hotel where a banquet was served them in a private dining room. The Beloit party did not arrive until nearly nine o'clock. They were taken from the interurban waiting room directly to the hall where the dancing began at once. The Beloit delegation returned at about 11:20, the last car having been held a few minutes overtime. The Madison students and their prom guests returned on the 12:10 train on their special car.

In every respect the affair was a thorough success. Pains had been taken days beforehand to insure the visitors against any possible discomfort, and the preparations were so well made that the "post prom" was pronounced unusually pleasant from every point of view, a fitting close for the brightest social occasion of the university year.

From Madison the visitors were Messrs. J. S. James, G. M. Haugen, R. M. Sharp, J. T. S. Lyle, C. E. Leslie, R. W. Lewis, H. R. Rosbrooke, P. E. Schroeder, W. L. McCormack, F. L. McNamara, A. H. Hopkins, C. D. Marsh, S. D. Lyle, J. H. Friend, T. W. Carpenter, the Misses Johnson, Case, Anthony, Noble, Eshelman, Robinson, Palmer, Merrill, Bull, Rietow, Walsh, Morrison. Mrs. D. D. McMillan chaperoned the party.

Beloit was represented by the Messrs. Nowlands, Gray, Elbrooke, Schellenger, Dorr, Craven, Griggs, Wright, Sparks; and the Misses Sedgwick, Foster, Dorr, Sherman, Chesbro, Lockridge, Wallace, Mrs. G. W. Sparks acted as chaperone.

Janesville's alumni were Fred S. Jeffris, E. H. Peterson, M. O. Mount, Frank Blodgett, George H. Sale, S. B. Echlin, R. M. Palmer and M. P. Richardson.

What The Athletes Are Doing.

Members of the Junior Y. M. C. A. athletic department are in the midst of an indoor meet. The first of the events were contested on Saturday and series is being completed this afternoon beginning at four o'clock. The purpose of the meet is to awaken a keener interest and promote a healthy rivalry among the members of the class, such as is not induced by the ordinary calisthenic and gymnastic routine.

Five events make up the list. Athletic Director Mack does not lay any stress on the runs. There is no indoor track and the boys are not in constant training so he has thought it advisable to have but one match to test the boys' speed of foot, a 200-yard run.

Results of Events
On Saturday three events filled up the allotted time. There were twelve contestants in each, all of the boys being under fourteen years of age. The results follow:

Standing Broad Jump—First, Kenneth Jeffris, 6 feet, 11 inches; second, tie between Leo Atwood and Vincent Koch; third, tie between Frank Hayes and Fred Booth.

Standing Hop, Step and Jump—First, Fred Booth, 20 feet; Second, Kenneth Jeffris; Third, Leo Atwood. Running Broad Jump—First, Verne Merrill, 11 feet, 11 inches; Second, tie between Kenneth Jeffris and Fred Booth; Third, Leo Atwood.

This afternoon the ties are being decided and two other events contested, a 200-yard run and the running high jump.

Coach Ande O'Dea of the state university crews has decided to have the new racing shell for the varsity eight rigged in the American style. Pennsylvania, Yale, and other eastern schools are adopting the English style this year for their new racers. Coach O'Dea has based his decision on the belief that the familiarity of the crew with the old style will offset any advantage of the English rigging.

It was expected to order two four-oar practice gigs for the university crews but the athletic association funds were too low to justify the expenditure.

The Intermediate Y. M. C. A. class is doing nothing in the way of gymnasium work but practice with the basketball in preparation for their match with Rockford on Tuesday evening.

Gloom shrouds the track department of Northwestern university. Charles Stahl, the captain, and the speediest quarter-mile runner, has announced that he will probably not return to school next semester. Stahl has decided on this course because he already has more credits than are essential for his degree. A one-hour course in philosophy may hold him unless the faculty gives his permission to tutor. It looks as though the customary hard luck stories would be in order among the wearers of the purple this year.

It is probable that when Carroll college's basketball men come here on the 27th inst., to meet the high school five they will remain over another night and contest the association team on the second date. That would bring the two matches on Friday and Saturday evenings respectively.

Beloit Ball Men Out
Jack Hollister, coach at Beloit college, called out his baseball hopefuls Saturday afternoon for the first regular work of the season. The usual course of preliminary work was gone through with in the gymnasium, in batting grounds, bunting, etc. The turns in the gym have been banked and the men are also being given a little foot exercise to aid in the getting in shape process.

For about a week the Beloit track squad have been out. The distance men have been trying out on long cross country runs and in shorter sprints. The rest of the candidates are dividing their time between gym work and practice with the weights or at the jumping bars.

Harry Gill, the coach, has among his prospective stars a young man from Canada. He is said to be a first-class all-around man, fast in the sprints and middle distance, and a reliable weight thrower. Under Gill's tutelage great things are expected of him.

Pres. Hart of the Chicago National League baseball team is planning a long western trip for his men before the opening of the season. The plan is to take them to Los Angeles where they will remain for about three weeks. On the way back practice games will be played almost daily.

One unfortunate feature of the transierral of the Olympian games of 1904 from Chicago to St. Louis is the necessity of the appointment of a new committee. The members of the Chicago committee were invited by the directors of the Louisiana exposition to retain their positions but they saw fit to decline to leave their business in order to manage the games in another city. Under President H. J. Furber, Jr., of Chicago, the arrangements had been progressing finely. It is believed that greater attention will be attracted to the games if they are held in connection with the great exposition.

University circles at the Iowa state institution are confronted with the necessity of raising $5,000 if athletics are continued. The edict has gone out from the board of control of athletics that that deficit must be met or all contests conducted by that department discontinued for the present. The alternative will be avoided if the efforts of the students can bring it about.

REGULATIONS FOR THE LENTEN SEASON.

Regulations for the Lenten season, to be observed in the archdiocese of Milwaukee, will be issued Feb. 16 by Archbishop Katerin in a communication in German and English, and will be sent to all churches under his jurisdiction. The archbishop's letter is similar to those of former years. Its full text follows:

All the days of Lent, Sundays excepted, are fast days of obligation, on which but one full meal is allowed.

2. The use of flesh meat is allowed, by apostolic dispensation, at the principal meal only, on all days except Wednesdays and Fridays and also Saturday of the second or ember week and of holy week. (Those who are exempt from fasting may more than once partake of flesh meat on days not enjoining abstinence.)

3. The use of eggs, butter, milk, and cheese is by custom allowed throughout Lent, and also the use of lard instead of butter for cooking.

4. Fish and flesh meat are not permitted at the same meal.

5. A collation or repast may be taken in the evening, but it ought not to exceed the fourth part of an ordinary meal, and a cup of coffee or tea with a little milk and a small slice of bread may be taken in the morning by those who need it.

Besides Lent, there are, during the year, the following days of fast and abstinence:

1. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of every ember week.
2. The vigils of Pentecost, of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, of all Saints, and of Christmas, likewise the Fridays in Advent; fast and abstinence is recommended on the Saturday during the octave of St. Peter and St. Paul, or on the Saturday before the feast if it falls on a Sunday.

All Fridays Fast Days
All Fridays during the year are days of abstinence from flesh meat; on Saturdays the use of flesh meat is allowed again for this year, by apostolic dispensation, except in case a fast day falls on Saturday.

All must consider themselves as strictly bound to this fast; those only are exempt from fasting (though not from abstinence) who are under the age of 21, and such persons as are sick, infirm, convalescent, or otherwise of a delicate constitution, or whose strength is impaired by old age, nursing, or by hard labor. Such as are seriously sick are also exempt from abstinence. Those who entertain any reasonable doubt about their obligation or fast or abstain ought to have recourse to their respective pastors for advice or dispensation.

Laboring People Exempt
By virtue of special faculties granted by the holy see, we also dispense from the law of abstinence all those that perform physical labor, and we permit them the use of flesh meat once during the day on all days, with the exception of the Friday during the entire year, Ash Wednesday, the vigil of Christmas, and those days of the Holy week on which the other faithful are not dispensed. This dispensation is so to be understood that at the common meal the whole family may avail itself of the dispensation. However, it is never allowed to eat fish and flesh meat at the same meal.

Moreover the faithful ought to perform some other works of penance, e. g., abstain from intoxicating drinks on the days on which they make use of this dispensation. Likewise, all that eat flesh meat on the Saturdays during the year are counseled to do other good works, e. g., give alms, for the grace of that dispensation.

The annual collection for the negro and Indian missions will be taken up on the first Sunday of Lent.

ENJOYED EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Science Was Discussed by the Eastern Star Study Class.

At the last meeting of the Eastern Star Study Class, held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Stevens, 151 Ravine street, the members of the class were the guests of Mrs. Stevens and Miss Sue Hutchinson. Roll call was responded to with current events and the subject for the afternoon was Science. The paper presented by Mrs. Mary Wood on "The Science of Living in Pioneer Days," written in a humorous vein, was declared the best paper ever presented before the class.

Miss Fanny Rumrill told of "Marconi's Latest Achievements in Wireless Telegraphy" and Mrs. W. H. Ashcraft's subject was "Recent Inventions in Science." Mrs. E. O. Kimberley paid tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. Mrs. C. V. Kerch read Walt Whitman's poem "The Ship of State," these numbers being inspired by the birthday of the martyred president.

At the close of the program dainty refreshments were served. The next meeting of the class will be a social held with Mrs. Brownell on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 26.

TREMPEALEAU AND ITS NAME

An Appeal For Identification.

New York Times: A dispatch from the little Wisconsin town of Trempealeau, which we published yesterday, announced that the people living there are planning elaborate entertainment for the president of the French republic if he carries out his rumored purpose, after visiting the St. Louis exposition, of making a pilgrimage over the routes and to the sites about which cluster memories of the days when France had a great empire in America. One can understand easily enough the interest which such a visitor could excite at Trempealeau and at many another place on the Mississippi, where almost obliterated earthworks recall a storied past, but it is not so easy to understand why President Loubet should enjoy a journey that can only remind the man of his race of glorious opportunities wasted, or heroic endeavor brought to nothing, simply because French rulers refused to learn the first principles of colonial government and sacrificed the half of a continent in a hopeless attempt to transplant here an already dying combination of church and state despotism. And by the way, how about the name "Trempealeau"? We find it easily enough on the map, applied to a town and county, but we confess to forgetting to have ever seen it in Parkman or any other history of new France. The world looks as though it were once written "trempe a l'eau," and therefore as if it immortalized a memorable upset of the ancient days, but in our disregard of ignorance we fail to identify either the name or the incident—a fact that ought to make a fine chance for our all knowing correspondents to be disdainfully kind.

A strictly first class up to date butter maker should be of mature age and have some experience and considerable dairy education, says George Dunford in the Farmer's Advocate. He should be possessed of a good head, strong arms and willing hands, and be honest and upright—of mature age so that he will attend strictly to business and act like a mature person should; of experience that he may avoid the mistakes often sure to overtake the inexperienced. He should have considerable dairy education, that he may be able to apply the experience of others and disseminate the necessary knowledge among his patrons; possessed of a good head, that he may do at least a part of his own thinking and apply it practically, as well as being competent to manage a business requiring exceptional judgment; strong arms and willing hands, that he can and will do the work thoroughly and completely; honest and upright, that he can and will treat all his patrons, as well as the association or company, fairly, and always do the proper work at the proper time.

He should have some knowledge of arithmetic, engineering, machinery, carpentering, bacteriology and chemistry, be an expert with the Babcock test, and be clean, neat and accurate in all things. His aim should be to produce the largest quantity and the finest quality of butter at the least possible cost, and the nearer he approaches this standard the more valuable are his services, and, so far as he is concerned, the nearer perfection has modern butter making become.

Most anybody can make good butter some of the time, but few can produce butter at all times.

When Great Care Is Necessary.
The elaboration of milk is not a voluntary action. It is a process of maturity to provide nourishment for offspring. Every disturbance retards the action of the milk functions. A voluntary action interrupted may be resumed, but not an involuntary one. A cow may lie down and suspend voluntary action, but the lungs, the heart and the mammary organs continue their functions uninterrupted by the cow's position. If for any cause the involuntary actions are interrupted, the result is serious and cannot be remedied. Great care should therefore be taken not to interrupt the full pace given to the lacteal function at time of maternity. Every disturbance or irregularity will surely cause a depression in their activity and a shrinkage in milk flow.

Score the Judges.
We are of the opinion that our friend Monrad first suggested a butter scoring contest for butter judges, and the plan is apparently an admirable one, writes E. K. Slater in Creamery Journal. It would certainly work no injustice upon those qualified to act, and if a man is not fit to perform the important duty of scoring butter those interested should be so informed. It would certainly result in strengthening the faith of those inclined to be credulous about the absolute justice in scoring butter and would satisfy everybody that the scoring was being done correctly. Give us a butter judge's scoring contest.

Importance of Care.
It is not so much the quantity of fluid in the milk pail that counts as does the number of butter globules it contains. Some cows are older and less profitable at eight years of age than others are at twelve. Difference in care is the cause of it.

Little Things That Count.
Experiments show that milking in a stable where the circulation of air can carry the dust out, wiping the udder with a damp cloth and scalding utensils with a live stream of boiling water will not only reduce the bacterial content of the milk, but increase the keeping quality of the milk material.

Dairy Husbandry Field Work.
The department of dairy husbandry of the University of Illinois has for the past year been conducting field work among the dairymen of the state. An attempt has been made to get them to weigh and sample the milk of each cow in their herds every seventh week, the object being to determine which of the individual cows are the most profitable, so that the farmer may be able to weed out the poor cows and keep only the profitable ones. Mr. A. J. Glover is looking after this work, and all necessary apparatus is furnished by the university. The farmers who take up the work are required every seventh week to weigh and sample the milk from each cow in the herd for fourteen consecutive milkings. From these results are estimated the amounts of milk and of butter fat each cow has produced for the three weeks before and will produce for the three weeks following the test. The cow's yearly record is made up from these tests, and in this way the total amounts of milk and of butter fat that she has produced during the entire year are determined.

The Milk Strainer.
Filters and strainers are of great value in purifying milk mechanically, are capable of removing a large portion of the filth from milk if applied before it has gone into solution. A milk strainer should be simple in its construction, all parts of it should be easily accessible to brush and cloth, its meshes should be fine enough to remove all the solid foreign matter and at the same time allow the milk to pass through the filter with a reasonable degree of rapidity.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Cold tonight and fair tomorrow.

QUICK RICH SCHEMES

All over this country word is being sent out of some poor deluded fool who has trusted his money to one of the quick rich companies who make elaborate promises on finely embossed paper and whose offices are in the swiftest of the big city office buildings. In the middle ages men sought for gold by some chemical process. Alchemists were in a demand and many a life has been spent trying to solve the Al-mighty a new and easy method of making gold. Swindlers existed in those days. Swindlers who boldly bled the rich and poor alike in the awful struggle to secure the much coveted wealth. Then came the promoters of the South Sea bubbles and the Panama canal. Bubbles that swept away thousands and thousands of dollars from the purses of the poor to swell the pocket books of the rich grafters. History is filled with the story of these wholesale robberies of the public and yet even in our day and age bold gold brick men and lightning-rod agents and green goods artists and "con" men in general find easy prey in the middle class that covet the wealth of the rich without the work and waiting for it. One would think that they would sometime have their eyes opened to the frauds that are daily being played upon them. But no, they blindly follow the elegantly worded and impressive looking bait and bite like fishes at the chance to get rich without work. This last exposure of the get rich quick method is not a new one. It is only prominent from the fact that this set of scoundrels have made more money than the rest of them have and that more people are sufferers than common. The police have raided, the police are raiding daily and will raid in the future, just such shops and still the poor, deluded fools will send their hard earned, hard saved money to the individual who will tell them of the great wealth they can secure and the remarkable returns in the shape of interest for small sums if they only will trust him to invest for them. The old saying of the "con men" of the past decade while slang fits the case. "There is a sucker caught every minute."

SHIRT SLEEVE DIPLOMACY

Minister Bowen has but once more illustrated the doctrine of American diplomacy with its straight-forward uprightness winning in the long run from the craftiness of cunning statesmen taught in the school of diplomacy in the old world where every nation intrigues against the others as a matter of course. Minister Bowen has accomplished his purpose. In one sense it is a two-fold purpose. He has kept the powers of Europe from swallowing up little Venezuela and thus far preserved the Monroe doctrine without the aid of arms and he has taught Venezuela and all South American republics that honest debts must be paid and that the United States has no use for a shirker. By means of his work and labors at Washington he has saved for President. Jastro his position of president and has also saved that country a long and awful war. His shirt sleeve diplomacy has also placed him among the first rank of diplomats of this country and brought his name before the public in manner to be envied.

THE LEGISLATURE

Friday was the last day that bills could be filed for consideration of the legislature. Evidently the makers of the states laws did not fail to realize the fact for the records show that two hundred and twenty-five bills were presented on the closing day. The total of the bills for consideration this winter is nine hundred and fifty-one as to ten hundred and three of the 1901 session. Many of these bills will never be heard of again outside of committee rooms and bills like the primary and railway taxation and inheritance will all create a stir on the floors of both houses. 1903 legislature has thus far done very well for itself. It has not had the number of usually fool bills presented and each one that has been handed to the clerk to read and been referred to a committee for debate has been of some importance. If only to a small number of taxpayers. Now that all the bills are in the real work will begin.

FAR REACHING

Thus far the Municipal League has hit several nails on the head. Three suits have been started and where there is so much smoke there is sure to be some fire. Alderman MacLean and Alderman Gilkey have both been served with papers in suits in equity and the whole council has also been served with an injunction restraining them from paying money for improvement of certain streets. Now the grand jury is to come and then matters will be placed before the public and the true moves of the League will be made public. Until then the public is left to guess what is coming. One thing has been developed, however, and that is the fact that the League means business and men are at the helm of affairs that will safely run matters into a safe issue.

HONOR

What kind of "honor" is that prevailing in the "third-class" of cadets at Annapolis? These young men were admitted to the naval academy under an agreement on their part to conform to the rules of the institution. These rules rigorously prohibit hazing. But the class having recently indulged, notwithstanding, in this species of "manly amusement," were asked by their superintendents to give their word of honor that they would hereafter obey the regulations in this respect, and are reported to have refused. Whereupon they were ordered "confined to their quarters with extra drill as a penalty for their action." Obedience to law was once considered the very essence of military honor. Has a change come over the spirit of our young men, so that they now consider their "honor" best preserved by mutiny?—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

In spite of all the good things said in behalf of slang, it is fair to admit that a little grammatical English once in a while is desirable. Northern Europe will pull through.

Evidently there are some United States senators who stand on the Inanola-Boston plane of intelligence when it comes to a question of negro appointments.

PRESS COMMENT

Milwaukee Sentinel: Why not let the people select their own official state paper at the regular biennial election?

Marquette Eagle: The legislators will earn their money if they turn down nine-tenths of the bills introduced. Wisconsin has too many dead letter laws now.

Milwaukee News: The Hon. Joseph Babcock will observe that the Hon. Joseph V. Quarles has filed a claim on the tariff reform "forty" to which the Hon. Joseph W. secured squatter rights sometime ago and then abandoned.

Chippewa Herald: President Birge of the Wisconsin university has taken steps to cleanse that institution of hilarious students. All who have been reading the Madison papers of late will agree that it is about time that Mr. Birge was getting busy.

Madison Democrat: It is stated that the administration is in favor of a civil service law for the state. It is one of the reforms that should go with the primary election. The state officers should be elected on their merits and not on the hopes for a job by an army of followers.

Neenah Times: It is reported about town that Governor La Follette will appoint W. M. Gilbert of Neenah on the military staff, with rank of colonel. If this is correct, The Times knows where he can secure a full suit at a small cost. It might be a misfit, but it would answer for a year or two.

La Crosse Press: Senator Quarles' motive in repudiating the "mossbackism" and "standpatism" is easy to find. He simply wishes to place himself in harmony with republican sentiment in Wisconsin in order to frustrate the designs of the La Follette leaders on his seat. Mr. Quarles will have to keep pretty busy the next two years to have even a chance to succeed himself.

Milwaukee Journal: Senator Quarles' anti-pat statement was very pat. It came just twenty-four hours before President Roosevelt's notification to the representatives of the tariff lords in the senate that they had to fish or cut bait on the trust question.

Fond du Lac Reporter: If Senator Spooner has presidential aspirations as ex-Governor Schield seems to think, he will have to do something more than "stand pat." The presidential campaign is no poker game, and the people will refuse to be bluffed.

Marquette Star: Senator Quarles has been trimming sails for re-election and has declared himself for tariff revision and against the trusts. Senator Quarles is making no mistake. The rumblings indicate quite a scramble for the exalted position he occupies. There are a number of prominent men who are getting ready to let go a little canvas just as soon as the wind begins to blow.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: The good roads' movement continues, despite the falling off in popularity of the bicycle. When the "wheel" was at the height of its boom, it was predicted that its general use would eventuate in the betterment of the country roads, and it did look for a time as though the interest of the wheel men would bring about improvement, despite the hostility of the agricultural interests to the scorching of "city fellers." But the bicycle has had its day, like other things that have been done to death, and the roads are no better. Now the automobile enthusiasts are to take a hand, and see what they can accomplish in co-operation with other organizations having similar interests.

PROOF OF THE LOVE OF GOD

REV. TIPPETT SPEAKS OF DIVINE RELATIONSHIP.

TEXT FROM MARK'S GOSPEL

Sunday Morning Sermon at Court Street M. E. Church, on the Misinterpreted Passage.

According to the Rev. J. H. Tippett, comforting proof of the divine relationship of the God, the Father, to the world is given by the words of Christ when he referred to all who do the will of God, as his brother, sister and mother. The text for his Sunday morning discourse was taken from the third chapter of the gospel, according to Mark, the 33rd to 35th verses:

"And he answered them, saying, who is my mother, or my brethren?" "And he looked round about on them which sat about him and said, behold my mother and my brethren!" "For whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and my sister, and my mother."

Text Misunderstood
In the history of Christendom, said the pastor, this message has often been misinterpreted. It has often been used as justification for monasticism, asceticism and for separation from all those earthly ties which man naturally holds dear. But this explanation is diametrically opposed to the true meaning of the verses. The figure of speech is used, as many other such figures were used by the Savior in the hope that they would bring out the particular meaning which he had in mind more clearly than more abrupt language would. The familiar simile of the family would bring the minds of his hearers to the thought of relationships and sentiments which they were all familiar with.

By these relationships were expressed the common feeling which actuates every man in the world. To the men who were seated about him the learned, definite language of the wise men would have contained none of the forceful suggestions of the simile.

Familiar Relationship
The figure of brotherhood which is used expresses the indissoluble nature of the tie which binds together sons of the same father and mother. It must have meant much to Christ's listeners when it dawned on them what was the divine relationship of which he spoke. Sisterhood also brought before them the feeling of the reverential honor which is paid this family, the Christ had begun to bring women into a more honored position than they had ever held before.

In motherhood Christ's listeners were called on to conjure up the idea of motherhood as it is at its best. However abused that relationship may sometimes be, it inevitably carries with it a certain unalienable dignity.

Man's Response Needed
From this passage the conclusion may be drawn that there is a relationship between man and God which only awaits a response on the part of the former to bring it into more vital existence. There is that in the nature of man which makes him move toward God. Even from the depths of humiliation the Lord is willing to raise a man, to raise him until he occupies even a more exalted state than he did before his fall from grace. There are those who have fallen so low that they are unwilling to believe that there is redemption in store for them, but these words of Christ prove their fears useless. One more inference may naturally be drawn from these verses. There is a relationship between man and God which transcends all the while it presumes all moral sanction. It is like the unthinking love of the son for his father.

Baffles Explanation
When the son is called upon to explain why he loves and reveres his father above all others it may be difficult for him to explain his affection. The father may be of great goodness, he may be just, large-hearted, generous, but it is for none of these qualities that the son loves him. He would love him anyway, because of the parental and filial relationship. It may not be possible to explain the joy which is felt in the knowledge of the love of God. But the power and blessedness of that relationship is none the less real. It is one of the great and comforting incentives toward and aids in the living of a Christian life.

FIRE CATCHES IN ANDERSON'S HOUSE

DEPARTMENT MAKES GOOD RUN OVER BAD STREETS.

THE DAMAGE WAS SMALL

Blaze Was Caused from Defective Piping in a New Chimney.

Peter Anderson started a pine fire in a stove, in a new house that he was building on North street, this morning and about eleven o'clock he got returns from it so that it will cost in the neighborhood of $150 to put the building back in shape.

Starts A Fire
The house was a two-story frame structure and was nearly completed. Mr. Anderson built the fire to dry out through the second floor and the sleeve around it was not heavy enough to protect the floor when the chimney became overheated. As a consequence the floor caught fire between the joists and worked both ways across two rooms.

Box 42
An alarm was sent in from box 42 at the corner of Lincoln and Holmes street and the department was soon on the ground. A lead of hose was laid into the building but the water was not turned on.

Extinguishers Used
The Babcock extinguishers from the patrol wagon were put in service and the fire stopped before it got into the walls of the house. If the fire had occurred at night the result would have been different as it would have got more of a start before being discovered.

Loss, Covered
The loss is fully covered by a $1,000 policy in a company represented by C. S. Cleland. This is the second alarm inside of two days and the fire boys say there is always a third so are on the watch for it.

PIONEER RESIDENT HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. M. H. Soverhill Died Saturday Evening—Funeral Services from the Home Tuesday Morning.

By the death of Mrs. Myron H. Soverhill, which occurred at her home, 130 Washington street, Saturday evening at 9:10 o'clock, one of this city's leading families has been bereaved of the devoted wife and mother in whom their happy home life centered.

Although advanced in years Mrs. Soverhill had enjoyed the best of health until a year ago last November when she was prostrated by the shock of the sudden passing away of her brother, the late William Sanford, who dropped dead while playing "Home Sweet Home" on the violin at the close of Mr. and Mrs. Soverhill's golden wedding celebration. Since that time Mrs. Soverhill had been subject to sinking spells and for the past three weeks she had been confined to her bed.

Deceased was seventy-three years of age. Adeline Miller Sanford was born in Newark, Wayne county, N. Y., Feb. 25, 1830. While she was quite young her family removed to Palmyra in the same county and later to Hopewell, Ontario county.

When she was about sixteen years of age she completed her education in the female seminary of that village. After her graduation she was engaged in teaching for one year and on the 16th of November, 1851, she was united in marriage to M. H. Soverhill.

Mr. and Mrs. Soverhill have been residents of Rock county for forty-seven years. They came to the town of Fulton, this county, in January, 1855, settling on the farm which is still owned by them and on which they remained until the fall of 1882. They then removed to this city which has been their home ever since and where on November 16, 1901, surrounded by their children and their grand children, they celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. Soverhill was a woman of deeply religious nature. At the early age of twelve years she united with the Presbyterian church at Hopewell, N. Y. For twenty-six years she and her husband were pillars in the Fulton church and during the twenty-one years of their residence in this city they have been valued members of the Janesville Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Soverhill's religion was one of happiness and practical service. Home to her was the happiest place and she presided over it with such fidelity that her children will call her blessed. The true spirit of hospitality was one of her many virtues and her memory will be lovingly cherished by a host of friends.

There are left to mourn her loss, a husband, one son, Sanford Soverhill, of this city, and four daughters, Mrs. T. B. Earle of Edgerton, Mrs. Frank J. Mount of the town of Harmony and Mrs. E. G. Tracy and Mrs. Beaumont De Forest of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the home on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock and the burial will be in the family burial place in the Fulton cemetery where the eldest and youngest children of the family are interred.

Notice.
The annual meeting of the stock holders of the Janesville Street Railway company, will be held at the office of Thomas S. Nolan, suite 311-313, Jackson Building, in the City of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin, at two o'clock in the afternoon of February 23, A. D. 1903.

Attest: GEO. W. BLABON, President.
EDWIN L. BLABON, Secretary.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Court Street M. E. church will meet at the parsonage, 210 S. Bluff street next Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

BLIZZARD WITH COLD WEATHER

REV. IRA HICKS FORETOLD THE PRESENT CONDITION.

MORE COLD IS PREDICTED

It is Claimed That February 10th Will See Sleet and High Winds with Severe Weather.

Saturday's light fall of snow with the dropping of the barometer warned the wise that the Frost King was again seeking a hold over his old enemy, the South Wind, and that a battle royal was soon to be in progress. The light drifting snow was blown hither and thither by the ever increasing north wind and by twelve o'clock Saturday night the thermometer had dropped to ten above the zero mark.

Was Foretold
Rev. Ira Hicks foretold this blizzard and said that the barometer would fall about the 14th and that the 15th would be a blizzard of unusual cold. He even goes further by stating that there will be several days of cold weather.

The Stars
The true weather prophet makes his calculations by the stars. The earth has entered well into her spring equinox, Jupiter is at his conjunction with the earth and the sun and moon and is at the extreme southern declination and in apogee and the Mercury, Venus and Vulcan periods are central. This means that after the few days of cold there will be sleet and a longer cold wave, beginning probably about the 19th.

Throughout Country
This cold wave has spread throughout the country from west to east and the suffering of the poor in the cities is only increased by the lack of fuel and unprepared condition the poor are in.

ANTI-TRUST LAW PLEASES KNOX

PROHIBITS RAILROAD REBATES

Department of Commerce Has Full Authority to Investigate Corporations and Cases Can Be Taken to the Supreme Court With Little Delay

Washington, Feb. 16.—President Roosevelt is said by Attorney General Knox to be very well satisfied with the anti-trust legislation enacted at the present session and to be highly gratified at the prompt response to his requests by Congress. The Attorney General, who is credited with having prepared the important features of the bills that have been passed, said:

"The giving and taking of railroad rebates is now prohibited by a law capable of effective enforcement against corporations as well as individuals, and the courts of the United States are clothed with jurisdiction to restrain and punish violations."

Law Is Comprehensive.

"The act creating the department of commerce vests in that department complete authority to investigate the organization and business methods of corporations engaged in interstate and foreign commerce, and to that end to collect the testimony of persons having the desired knowledge. The legislation is concise in its terms, but very comprehensive in its scope. Under its provisions a fair opportunity will be afforded to test the effect upon the tendency toward industrial monopoly of its guarantees of no favors for the great producer as against the small one. Discretion is lodged in the President as to the publication of facts useful to be publicly known and a wise administration of the law promises much that is helpful and nothing that is harmful."

Expedites Cases.

"The law to expedite the hearing of cases and giving an appeal directly to the supreme court from the court of first instance assures within a reasonable time authoritative decisions upon important pending questions in the knowledge of which future legislation, if necessary, can be confidently framed."

"Upon the whole, the situation is eminently satisfactory and is the result of concessions, modifications of views and forms of expressions upon the part of many earnest and thoughtful men who have endeavored within a very brief session to meet a rational public demand in a rational effective way."

INDIAN SUPPLIES.

Chicago to Furnish More Than Half the Red Men's Allowances.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The annual contracting for supplies for the entire Indian service of the country will begin at Chicago the middle of April. The Indian bureau has practically completed its arrangements for the work. Almost half a million dollars' worth of supplies of all kinds will be handled through the Chicago warehouse during the coming finance year, an amount considerably over half the aggregate for the service. Official estimates have been sent to Congress approximating the amount of business at the Chicago warehouse this year as follows: Tonnage, 10,000,000; value of the goods, $475,000; cost of the warehouse, $22,000. The committees on Indian affairs of Congress have received a report from Commissioner Jones giving these figures, and adding:

"Less rent is paid the present year for the Chicago warehouse than last year, but this is overbalanced by having to pay cartage. Prior to this the warehouse was located so as to avoid the cartage charge, because the freight cars could be run into the building. Chicago ships groceries, boots and shoes, a large proportion of the dry goods, some clothing, hardware, woodware, harness and harness hardware, wagon material, agricultural implements, paints and oils, tinware, stoves, school supplies, medical supplies, packing-house products and subsistence. New York handles almost nothing but clothing, hats and caps and some dry goods."

Senate Deadlock.

Washington, Feb. 16.—With only fifteen legislative days of the session remaining, two treaties to ratify and a number of appropriation bills for the support of the government to be passed, the deadlock in the senate remains as unyielding as it was two months ago. Senator Quay, in charge of the omnibus statehood forces, is absolute master of the senate, and is now operating with the expectation that the opponents of the bill will agree to a vote rather than cause an extra session. Mr. Quay intends, it is understood, to force an extra session unless his bill is voted upon. He can do this by preventing the passage of a supply bill carrying an appropriation for the support of one of the departments.

Melville to Remain.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The statement that Engineer in Chief George Melville of the navy is about to retire from that office in the course of a few weeks, giving place to Captain C. W. Rea, is said to be erroneous. Secretary Moody says he is sure the engineer in chief has no such intention, and he also declared that the office of his successor had never even been considered by the president himself.

Bargains for House.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The Russian ambassador, Cassini, has closed negotiations with a representative of former Vice President Morton for a year's

On the first ballot the vote was seven for acquittal and five for conviction. On the next ballot the vote stood eight to four. That was the ballot from that time until the jury was discharged, with the exception of one or two instances. The attorneys for the state have not decided what they will do.

GAIN IN INDIANA COAL OUTPUT

Reports Show 8,763,197 Tons Mined in 1902, Increase of 25 Per Cent.

Indianapolis, Feb. 16.—Reports on the coal mining industry in Indiana in 1902 show there were 8,763,197 tons mined in the state, being an increase of 1,742,202 tons over the preceding year, or nearly 25 per cent. This is the largest output that was ever made by the Indiana mines, and it is estimated that outside of yearly contracts all of the coal was sold at an advance of from 25 to 40 per cent increase over the price of a year before. The reports also show a steady increase in output in the last twelve years, raising gradually from 3,791,211 tons in 1890 to the figures of last year.

REMEMBER THE MAINE IN HAVANA

CUBAN VETERANS TAKE PART

Flotilla of Launches and Small Steamers Decorate the Wreck With Floral Emblems in Memory of the Men Who Lost Their Lives.

Havana, Feb. 16.—Four hundred Americans observed the fifth anniversary of the destruction of the Maine Sunday afternoon with speeches and memorial exercises. Bearing an American flag draped with crepe, a flotilla of launches and small steamers went out to the wreck and hung a wreath of the broken and twisted pieces of steel in memory of the men who lost their lives. Representatives of Cuban Veterans' association took part in the ceremony and brought the finest of the floral offerings.

The speakers left out all remarks that might cause animosity among the Spanish residents and confined their addresses to the fate of the victims. Minister Stays Away.

The United States legation was not represented. Minister Squires holding that any possibility of stirring up the feelings of the Spaniards ought to be avoided. The Cuban government officials finally decided not to attend, but a government launch accompanied the procession. United States Consul Rublee, Vice Consul Springer and some representatives of the United States army were present.

An indignation meeting of Americans to give public expression of their feeling against Mr. Squires will be held in a few days. His conduct in remaining away is regarded as extremely unpatriotic.

American Launch Leads.

A United States quartermaster's launch led the way, followed by two small steamers loaded with Americans and numerous little craft. All about the harbor American and Cuban flags were flying at half mast. The dead march was played by the band of the United States artillery corps as the procession made its way to the Maine. After completing the decoration of the wreck the boats clustered around the quartermaster's launch, the awning deck of which was utilized as a platform.

After a prayer offered up by the Rev. Mr. McPherson, Gen. Nunez, the governor of Havana province, who is also the president of the Cuban Veterans' association, spoke in Spanish to the effect that the Cuban veterans would never permit such an occasion to pass without testifying their regard for those whom the Cubans were proud to regard as comrades.

Memorial Address.

Ernest Conant delivered the memorial address. He paid a tribute to the victims, but commended the mutual respect now existing between those who for a brief period fought each other, and in his references to the late Admiral Sampson the speaker especially eulogized the Spanish admiral, Cervera.

Other speakers urged the co-operation of Cubans, Spaniards and Americans in working out Cuba's destiny. The ceremony concluded with the sounding of "taps."

MAYOR AMES IS UNDER ARREST

Former Minneapolis Official Is Taken Into Custody.

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 16.—Dr. Alonzo Albert Ames, ex-mayor of Minneapolis, who disappeared last year while the grand jury of his county was investigating charges of conspiracy and extortion on the part of the ring of municipal and police officials of which he was alleged to be the prime mover, is under arrest in the town of Hancock, twenty miles west of this city. He is charged with offering bribes.

FIRE IN ICLINDIS COAL MINE

Heavy Loss Is Sustained in the Shaft at Virden.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 16.—The south coal shaft at Virden has been closed for five days on account of fire breaking out in the mines. Only by the hardest kind of work were the mines rescued from the flames, as the entries were filled with sulphurous smoke. The fire now covers an area of eight acres. For five days and five nights men battled with the flames and have at last got them controlled and walled in. The loss to the coal company is very heavy, as the plant was idle for five days. There is no way to extinguish the fire except by flooding the burning district and that would endanger the entire mine.

The idea of vanity is ingeniously illustrated throughout by means of peacocks inlaid in pewter on the various pieces of furniture, applied on the blue linen bedspread and prominent on the well executed frieze in the design

IL DE LA BAUME.

What Mrs. Skeeters Says. When John D. Long was secretary of the navy one of his subordinates was a dapper little man whose name closely resembles Skeeters. He was rather bibulously inclined at times, so one morning when the secretary found it necessary to dismiss somebody for drunkenness he embraced the occasion to deliver a temperance lecture, being a teetotaler himself. "Of course, Mr. Skeeters," he said, "you do not drink." "Oh, certainly not, Mr. Secretary," was the reply, "only for medicinal purposes. I generally take a little toddy at meal times." "And what does Mrs. Skeeters say?" said the secretary reproachfully. "Generally she says, 'Skeeters, here's your toddy,' and that's all."

Broke

Down With Nervous Prostration.

Confined to Bed. Doctors Failed,

But Dr. Miles' Nerve Cured Permanently.

"Some six years ago I completely broke down from overwork. I suffered from nervous prostration and stomach trouble and was confined to my bed and room for months. While I had as good a physician as this city affords he failed to pull me out, and I tried many remedies and they were so hard on my stomach that I could not take them. At last I found Dr. Miles' Nerve. Ah, that was a real sure place and enabled me to cry out 'Hurrah!' I was soon able to be out and at work. I consider Dr. Miles' Nerve the thing for nerve and stomach trouble. I also use in my family most of Dr. Miles' Medicines, as household remedies."—Rev. Geo. W. Draper, Danville, Ill.

"About a year ago I failed in health and my case was said to be nervous derangement and heart trouble. My stomach was also affected and I suffered from a variety of symptoms such as wind on the stomach, shortness of breath, another spell, pain around the heart and left shoulder. My ankles were frequently swollen and my face was often feverish. There were little puffs under my eyes at times and I had headache almost constantly. I wrote to you for advice and in addition to general directions as to taking care of myself you prescribed Restorative Nerve, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills. I will state that my complete and permanent return to health followed."—Miss Josephine Kern, Galena, Ill.

THE CODE OF HONOR.

A New Point to Be Decided by the French Courts.

Latest Parisian Romance Involves Question of Lover's Resentment and Rights Under the "Unwritten Law."

Here is the latest Parisian romance. The characters are: Lucien David, a well-to-do Parisian. Mme. David, his wife, who is 35 and the mother of three children, one of them 17.

Jean Syndon, a painter of promise, whose pictures have been praised by Bonnat, Jules Lefebvre and M. Seidelmeier, the art dealer, and who had been giving drawing lessons to the Davids' 14-year-old daughter. He is 30.

The story opens with M. and Mme. David walking near Etretat, where they were spending the summer. Up to them comes Syndon and kills M. David with a revolver.

Then the question of his motive came up. Everybody concerned in the case seems to have talked. Syndon's janitress talked.

"He is such a nice young man," she said. "He would be all right if it were not for that veiled woman who called to see him every day. She stopped coming here six weeks ago. After that a letter in a feminine handwriting arrived for him every day."

It was just six weeks before that that the Davids went to the country. Syndon's chum talked.

"Last Thursday (three days before the murder) Syndon rushed into the studio out of breath and, exhibiting the keenest emotion," he said:

"Do you know what he has just done?" he asked. "He has broken his cane upon my back."

"But who?" I asked.

"M. David, the husband of the woman I love."

"And what did you do? You struck back, I hope?"

"But, no. I could hardly strike the husband of the woman I regard as my wife."

"But," said I, "you cannot submit to this affront. You will send your seconds to M. David and I hope that you love me enough to count upon me."

"No," he replied, "I cannot challenge M. David to a duel, but I will telegraph at once to Mme. David to come and elope with me."

"That evening I saw Syndon again. He was completely downcast."

"I have just received an answer to my dispatch," he said. "She refuses to come and asks for explanations."

"I tried to demonstrate to him that Mme. David in refusing to elope did nothing but what was natural."

"I could understand," I said, "that the wife might leave her husband, but how could you conceive of a mother who would leave her children?"

This reasoning failed, as the sequel showed, to convince Syndon. He went to Etretat and killed M. David. He also talked. He told of his relations with Mme. David. Being informed that the family attributed the murder to a quarrel arising over his conduct to the Davids' daughter he said:

"Then that version must be accepted as the true one. It is not for me to be the first to speak. I shall observe all the reserve of a gallant man."

He has nevertheless hired a lawyer famed for eloquence, and the lawyer expects to get him off.

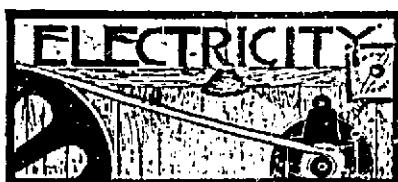

"When he killed M. David," said the lawyer, "the latter had spit in his face and was raising his cane. Note that all the numerous love letters received by Syndon were burned before he started for Etretat from Paris. He cannot, therefore, be reproached with having prepared his defense beforehand; but we do not lack proofs on the state of things that existed."

Mme. David had not said much, except to moan, while throwing herself on her husband's grave, that she would like to kill herself.

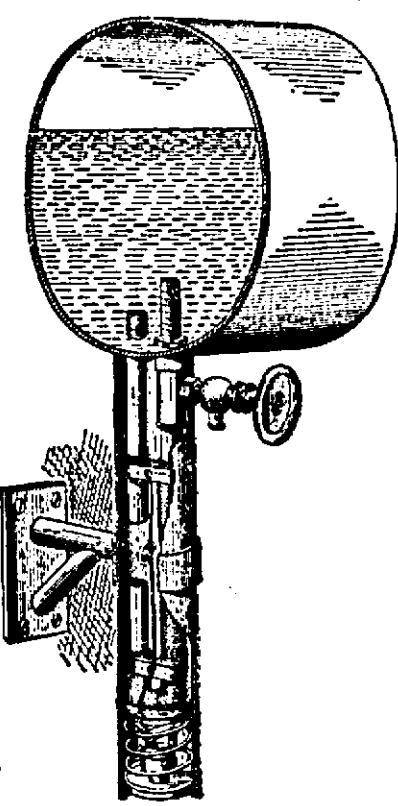

The trial is expected to be of especial interest, as it will bring up a new point regarding the "unwritten law," namely, if the husband canes and spits in the face of the lover is the lover justified in killing him?

Killed by a Housefly. A common house fly hit the thumb of George Lendhurst, aged 56, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and caused his death. His hand and arm swelled, and in a short time his body was twice its natural size, from blood poisoning.

Horses in Cowhide Shoes. In the rural districts of Australia many of the horses wear cowhide shoes.

For persons desiring a quantity of hot water on short notice the water heater now described will prove particularly valuable, though it will be found useful on all occasions requiring hot water, says a writer in the Scientific American. The device is designed to rapidly heat flowing water or it used in connection with a reservoir to heat water circulating therefrom and thus store up a quantity of hot water. The reservoir or water tank is provided with two pipes connected at their lower ends by a U shaped coupling. One of these pipes, which is provided with means for heating the water, contained therein, is longer than the other pipe, so that as the water is heated it will flow to a higher level in the tank and the cooler water will pass down through the shorter pipe, thus keeping up a circulation. A discharge cock is connected with the hot water pipe, through which the water may be drawn off as required.

The heating device consists of a fine wire wound in coils about the pipe, the latter being covered with an insulating coat of mica or other equivalent insulating substance. The wire offers a high resistance to the electric current passed through it, and sufficient heat is thus generated to heat the water. The heat of the wire cannot rise much beyond that of the pipe because of the continuous circulation of water, so that no fear may be entertained of burning out the wire. The circuit can be closed or opened by operating the plug at the bottom of the device, which is adapted to slide between two spring contact pieces forming the terminals of the heating medium.

Electricity and Agriculture. An important paper has recently been published by Dr. Selim Lemstrom of Helsingfors on the use of electricity as a plant fertilizer. His experiments show that for plants growing on arable land of medium quality an increase of 45 per cent in the crops is obtainable. The better the field is tilled the greater is the increase. On poor soil the effect is trifling. Certain plants, such as peas, cabbages and turnips, do not respond to electrical treatment until after being watered. Electricity applied when the sun is shining strongly is almost invariably injurious.

Value of Canned Goods. The fruits and vegetables canned and preserved each year in the United States have a value of more than $15,000,000. The number of pounds of tomatoes canned is double that of the corn. Of fruits canned peaches stand first in value, being $1,500,000. The plebeian pumpkin is canned to the value of more than $200,000.

In mounting ferrotype prints many amateurs succeed in getting paste all over the surface of the picture. Of course the glass is removed whenever the paste sticks and the result is anything but a neat photograph. The evil is generally due to carelessness, but sometimes the method of doing the pasting is at fault, says the Brooklyn Daily Eagle. Occasionally the pasting is done on glass and the different prints of the same size are supposed to be placed in the same position, but invariably one print is a little larger than the rest or it is not placed just right and the edges are covered with paste, or perhaps the glass is cleaned off each time, but not thoroughly dried.

There is a simple and quick way of mounting dry prints which leaves no excuse for anything but clean work. Take a newspaper and trim the folded edges on the cutter or with the scissors. Then paste one print on each sheet of paper, being careful to hold it down firmly so that it cannot slip on to the pasted portion. In this way each sheet is thrown away as soon as used and there is no paste around in the way.

Of course care must be taken not to touch the glossy surface of the print with the same fingers used to hold it down while pasting.

Here, it is said, he was met by Butler with a shotgun, and the killing followed. Both men are colored.

CURES CHRONIC CATARRH

Hyomel Cures Worst Form of This Disease in Any Part of the System. It is the height of folly to continue doctoring a catarrhal disease by stomach drugging, when the whole trouble lies in the respiratory organs where nothing can reach the germs but a local direct treatment by inhalation. Hyomel is Nature's remedy for the cure of catarrh. Just breathe it a few times daily and it will effect a cure.

You may have catarrh of the stomach, liver or kidneys and Hyomel will as surely cure it as it will catarrh of the head and throat. The catarrhal germs are in the mucous membrane or tissues and Hyomel not only kills the germs along the air passages, but enters the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood.

The medicated dry air that goes through the air passages and into the lungs when Hyomel is breathed through the inhaler that accompanies every outfit, is rich in ozone, purely vegetable and filled with marvelous healing and strength giving qualities.

If you are tired of stomach drugging and seem to grow weaker all the time, "throw physic to the dogs" and get well with the health giving Hyomel treatment that is Nature's own method.

Rev. J. B. Cook of Holliston, Mass., says: "My wife has suffered greatly from catarrh for fifteen years. Nearly four weeks ago she commenced to use Hyomel and beneficial effect was immediate. It is very seldom that she needs to clear her head and throat and she is able to rest quietly at night. For years past she has been troubled with pain in her limbs which we supposed was rheumatism, but since she has used Hyomel that affliction has disappeared."

King's pharmacy will return your money if Hyomel does not cure you of catarrh. This shows their faith in the remedy.

MINNESOTA DAIRY SCHOOL.

A Fine Building and Good System Under Efficient Management.

With two dairy school terms held during one year and each one successful Minnesota may well be credited with turning out a good many butter makers, says Creamery Journal. Previously the dairy school has been in session during the month of January, but the order has been so changed as to hold the session late in the fall, terminating just before Christmas. Hereafter there will be but one term of four weeks annually, beginning the latter part of November.

The Minnesota Dairy school was founded in 1898, with Professor Haecker, the king of Minnesota's dairying dominions, as principal. In conjunction with the School of Agriculture. It is but a part and parcel of the University of Minnesota and is subject to such rules and regulations as govern the different departments of that great institution. The School of Agriculture of Minnesota has attracted the attention of the agricultural world to a marked degree, and the dairy school has certainly accomplished its full share in establishing the excellent reputation which this institution enjoys. The situation of the school is a well chosen one, combining the rural and metropolitan advantages necessary to the maintenance of such an institution most happily.

The term of four weeks known as the dairy school's regular course is intended for creamery butter makers. The work of the school consists of lectures and practical work in the creamery, the forenoon being devoted to talks on creamery work in general, lectures on chemistry and bacteriology, cream ripening, the butter maker's relation with his patrons, etc., and the afternoon to practical work in the creamery, where milk is received and separated, where the starters are propagated and the cream ripened and churned. The instructors in the school, who are engaged for only the four weeks' session, are assisted in the work by the regular specialists at the state farm, who deliver interesting and instructive lectures on their particular lines of work.

System in Milking.

Milk regularly at the same time each day equally between milkings, cows in the same order and by the same milkers if possible. Milk quickly, but gently. Get all the milk each time, but do not keep on stripping after you have done it.

CHEESE MAKING

At the recent meeting of the New York State Dairyman's association Mr. H. E. Cook of Denmark, N. Y., read a paper on "The Development of Fancy Milk Products."

Mr. Cook said that in the past decade a rapid development has taken place in fancy cheese and proprietary foods made from milk. The state of Wisconsin leads today, with three-fifths of the total output of fancy cheese. New York is second, with one-third. The center of the fancy cheese industry is in Greene county, Wis., where the people are mostly Swiss. The fancy cheeses are in growing demand, and the industry should receive more attention.

This brand of Swiss cheese comes within the limit of ordinary expenditures for cheddar cheese and therefore within the means of many factories. The cheese is made in kettles now manufactured with steam connection. The curd is soaked at a high temperature, and a large waste of fat takes place, which is saved in the better equipped factories by passing the whey through a separator, or it is hand skimmed. The cheese requires from seventy-five to a hundred days for curing. First it is put in a cellar with a temperature of 65 to 70 degrees, next in a temperature of 60 to 65 degrees and finally in a temperature not above 60 degrees. It is a sweet milk production, yet there are certain ferments apparently demanded for developing its flavor and especially the "eyes," for which it is noted.

I am of the opinion that bacteriological investigation is needed to control these ferments not unlike the control we now exercise in cheddar cheese.

There is a group of German cheeses that have as a basis of manufacture the same general principles. These cheeses are highly prized by our foreign population.

Oregon's Cheese.

Oregon is justly proud of its cheese, which enjoys a well earned and enviable reputation on the Pacific coast. It had quite a number of factories in operation in 1899, and yet in that year the value of the condensed milk produced by the one factory in the state of Washington exceeded the value of all the cheese produced in Oregon.—Northwestern Agriculturist.

SECRETARY VOGT SPEAKS OF GYM.

Field Representative of Beloit College Says There Is Little Fear of Disappointment.

Von Orden Vogt, field secretary of Beloit college, was in the city for several hours today. While here he spoke of the plans which have been made up to the present time regarding the new gymnasium for Beloit college. Nearly $20,000 has already been raised. Plans for the gym set the total cost at $40,000.

As yet the name of the donor has not been made public. About $7,500 of the amount is an unsettled legacy from the estate of a late Wisconsin manufacturer. The balance, bringing the total up to nearly $20,000, is a personal gift from his son. An Illinois gentleman has promised to give $1,000 annually for five years toward securing a gymnasium director.

In model the Amherst college gymnasium has been chosen as the most suitable for Beloit needs. The building would be built of vitrified brick. In length the gymnasium would extend 130 feet. Mr. Vogt said that there was no reason to believe that the college would be disappointed in the gymnasium, as in the past.

Fish Cake for a Cat.

It was in a city restaurant at a crowded luncheon hour. A tiny little old lady seated herself at a table where three younger women were eating potato salad, chocolate eclairs, Sultan's roll and chocolate. She ordered fish cakes. When the order was brought she took from her fishnet bag a small pasteboard box. In this she placed one of the fish cakes, then wrapped it daintily in white paper, snapped a rubber band around it, and back it went into the net bag. Looking up she met the somewhat inquiring glance of the waitress. "It's for a cat I know," she said, patting the box. "I promised her a fish cake today."

Proud of Church Services.

In commemoration of his half century of service as usher in the Plymouth church, Brooklyn, ex-Senator Stephen M. Griswold, the well-known banker and millionaire, gave a dinner the other night to 160 members of his church. A set of engrossed resolutions and a loving cup were presented to Mr. Griswold, who in a short speech said: "I began as assistant usher in the west gallery and have been steadily promoted until I am now chief usher in the main aisle. Do you know I am prouder of the fact than I am of being a banker and a millionaire." Mr. Griswold is now seventy years old.

Thinks Railroads Too Luxurious.

Railroad riding is altogether too luxurious nowadays, says Galusha A. Grow, the venerable Pennsylvanian who will retire from public life with this Congress. The comforts of modern travel are all very well, he admits, but they have robbed him of his medicine. In the old days of crooked lines and jolty cars if he felt that his liver was becoming torpid he jumped on a train and rode to New York. The shaking up he received in a few hours' run was sufficient remedy. He still tries the same cure, but maintains that the beneficial results have diminished in ration corresponding with improvements which have been introduced.

A Champion Corn Husker.

The Lindsay Record adds another to the corn husking stories floating over Kansas. Lew Rasmussen shucked 4,500 bushels for one man. His average was 115 bushels a day. He took care of his own team, did his own hauling, and shoveled all the corn into cribs without assistance. "Rasmussen is undoubtedly the fastest husker we have any straight report on," says the Record. "A good many men can husk over one hundred bushels a day, but they have to lay off for three days afterward to get over it. This man goes right on, day after day, and does it easily."—Kansas City Journal.

LESSON IN AMERICAN HISTORY IN PUZZLE

GEN. WAYNE CAPTURES STONY POINT. Find Negro Who Gave the Countersign.

The capture of Stony Point was one of the most brilliant exploits of the revolutionary war that occurred during the summer of 1779. Gen. Wayne (Mad Anthony) learned the countersign from a negro who had been selling fruit to the British, and with this succeeded in reaching the base of the hill undetected. With fixed bayonets and unloaded muskets the Americans charged up the hill and into the fort, sweeping everything before them. The British lost 600 troops in killed, wounded and prisoners. During the fight Gen. Wayne was wounded, but not mortally.

MADE A LUCKY CAPTURE.

Custom house men have sometimes made other captures besides those of contraband goods. A man who had effected a heavy jewelry robbery in a seaport town was retreating with his plunder, and, having deposited it in a boat, he rowed himself across the harbor to a timber wharf, landed, and, putting the sack across his shoulders, was making off, when a revenue officer, who had been dozing among the timber, roused by the noise, came out and stopped him, and asked what he had got in the sack. He quickly replied: "You are welcome to look; I'll go on board and fetch the other," and off he went, and, as may be imagined, he did not turn up again, as no other sack existed. The officer, on opening the bag, was rather astonished to find it full of watches and spoons instead of a few hundred cigars, such as sailors sometimes try to land.

One Grateful Constituent.

Convincing proof was furnished in Washington a day or two ago of the fact that constituents are grateful at least sometimes. A congressman had been asked to use his influence in securing a job for a voter in his district. He did so and failed to land his man. The latter wrote a letter in which he said: "I cannot close without again acknowledging my thanks. No language is rich enough to express my gratitude. No sentiment, however sublime, is lofty enough to reveal the obligation I feel. Though I go down in defeat, its gloom never can get so dark that to me your friendship will not be a source of joy and pride and an inspiration to ever higher thought and action. God grant and I cannot help but believe he will spare me, that again some day I may help to crown you." A friend of the Congressman read this glowing epistle and inquired: "What did he want?" "A $300 clerkship," "Great Scott! I wonder what he would have written had you been successful."
